BPA TESTING & PACKAGING UPDATE January 2010

Testing Concludes BPA Undetected

Nature's One® has finalized BPA testing on its powdered formula (produced in 2009) using a third-party laboratory. The testing method is 10-times more sensitive than the current test used by the FDA. As expected, no BPA was detected in Nature's One® formula products.

100% BPA-Free Packaging

With the help of Nature's One® suppliers, all components of our packaging used in 2010 are 100% BPA-free. This includes the new "easy-open" lid that once used an epoxy based resin. Nature's One® will be introducing new light-weight canisters and "easy-open" lids for all Baby's Only Organic® formulas and PediaSmart® nutrition beverages produced in 2010.

Environmentally Friendly Packaging

Our new canisters are good for the environment because they are recyclable and on average contain 50% recycled content. Additionally, the canisters are light weight since they are made of paperboard instead of tin. This reduces environmental waste and energy used in manufacturing and transportation. The canister's metal top and bottom are also recyclable. Again, all components of the packaging are BPA-free.

As an organic manufacturer, Nature's One® is concerned over the level of chemicals ingested by infants, toddlers and children and will always use the highest quality ingredients and materials available to produce and package its organic pediatric products.
